PASCHAL CANDLE HISTORY (Part – 4)

Today's liturgical rubrics say the Paschal Candle's use at Funerals is optional but normative at Baptisms. Even when one is baptized in an emergency, as at a hospital, the Anointing, Prayer of Exorcism, Clothing with White Garment, Lighting a Baptismal Candle from the Paschal Candle, are strongly encouraged in what some call 'Supplying the Ceremonies.' For these rituals are not simply 'pretty things to do' or 'extras;' they help us experience, celebrate and better understand the meaning of the Sacraments. Why do we not extinguish it [as we did for centuries!] on the Ascension of the Lord but wait until Pentecost? Unlike the Christmas crèche, which recalls our Lord's earthly life, the Paschal Candle represents the Risen Lord's life. And after His Ascension, he remained just as present to us, though not bodily, in the Sacraments, His Word, and in every other way He said we would find Him! At the end of all Masses of Pentecost weekend, we will extinguish the Paschal Candle as a sign that Easter time 2024 will be ended. After that, it will no longer shine forth from its place of honor, next to the Ambo; its new home will be near the Baptismal Font. After Pentecost, it is only lit for Baptisms and Funerals and, by Parish custom; it is moved to and lit near the Book of Remembrance and All Souls Memorials for the Month of November: the Month of All Souls. God Bless!
